REACHING FOR THE SKY

Astronaut Ronald McNair

Astronaut Ronald McNair, a native of Lake City, S.C., was a crew member on board the Space Shuttle Challenger as it exploded moments after lift off from Kennedy Space Center on January 28, 1986. His accomplishments resulted from dreams, thus enabling him to reach heights few men reach and touch lives few men touch.

With A Dream

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

President John F. Kennedy

Great men have passed our way throughout this century. They brought a wealth of knowledge and love for mankind with them. Men like Dr. Ronald McNair, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and President John F. Kennedy dreamed dreams, made them become a reality, and left us with the belief and knowledge that dreams do come true.

MAKING IT HAPPEN

The dreamers continue as history is being made. We dream of reaching career goals, being President of a college, Commander of the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command, the first black man to become President of the United States, a peace maker or of being a Judge. These are dreamers, dreaming dreams for the future. We must take their dreams and make them realities for us.

Major General Eugene Cromartie, Commander of the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command and Dr. Luns C. Richardson, President, Morris College, Sumter, South Carolina.

Rev. Jesse Jackson, civil rights activist and 1984 Presidential candidate.

Bishop Desmond M. Tutu, recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1984 and antiapartheid leader of the South African Council of Churches.

Vanessa Burrison, with South Carolina's Chief Justice Ernest Finney

STUDENT LIFE

Ms. Felecia Randolph,
Reaching For A Dream

ASPIRATIONS FOR THE FUTURE

My checking account was begun twenty-two years ago and has been evolving since. Especially revealing is the amount of money invested and the interest accrued. The money of education has led me to the challenge of obtaining a college education at Morris College. Since my freshman year, interest has constantly been accrued. As a Presidential Scholar I was dedicated to my studies. I was listed on the President's List, received the Freshman English Award, earned the title of attendant to Miss Homecoming, sang in the Gospel Choir, served as the Basketball statistician (first semester) and became a member (second semester) of the Girls' Basketball Team.

During the remainder of my matriculation at Morris College I have committed my energies to academics, service and self development. I have engaged in a number of service activities including tutoring other students and singing in the Gospel Choir. Academically I have received citations and awards as an O.R. Reuben Scholar, a member of the Dean's List, a member of Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society, and selection as a member of Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges. I am a member of the Mathematics Club and Baptist Student Union. I was selected by my peers to represent them as First Vice President of the Student Government Association, Miss Mathematics Club, Miss Gospel Choir, Miss Co-ed, and Miss Baptist Student Union (first runner-up).

At present my new endeavors include being the Editor of The Heritage, the college newspaper, a candidate for permanent employment with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and Youth Department Treasurer of the Progressive National Baptist Church Convention—Southern Region. At my church, First Baptist of Sumter, I participate in the Youth Choir, Gospel Choir, Combined Choir, and as a Junior Missionary Society Member.

It is my desire to continue to gather interest on my account by working temporarily during the summer with FAA in Jacksonville, Florida. After then, I hope to attend graduate school at Bowling Green State University and obtain a MS degree in Statistics and Operational Research. After receiving my M.S. Degree and passing the required exams, I plan to work as an actuary or corporate researcher in the Southeast.

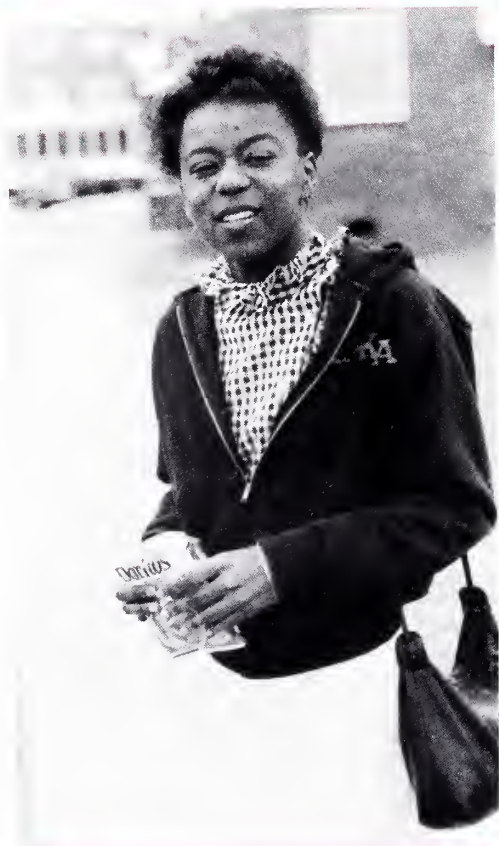

My checking account will never be overdrawn simply because I will always seek new and better opportunities to improve myself. I do not plan to sell myself short but will cash in on every chance available. The only way to have these opportunities open is to be prepared and willing to take advantage of them when they come.

To those of you I leave behind, I encourage you to prepare yourselves academically in order to accumulate interest and achieve success. Most of all develop your talents so that others can see your strong points.

It is up to you to stabilize your account for the future and invest wisely to accrue prosperity. If you aspire to do your best, you will acquire success. As Proverbs 24:5 says: "Man of knowledge increaseth strength." DREAM BIG DREAMS.

Tonight's Coronation is a celebration. It is not just a celebration for me, but for the entire Morris College Family. Tonight we celebrate a great part of our heritage. It is the heritage of finer womanhood as represented in women who have reigned in this capacity before me and beyond.

Dr. Richardson, members of the Board of Trustees, Dean Vereen, Mr. Corley, Rev. Newton, Faculty and Staff, Students, Family and Friends, I am very happy and grateful to be your Miss Morris College. I wish to express my appreciation to all who supported my efforts.

First, I am thankful to the Supreme Being for without Him nothing would be possible. I would also like to thank Him for giving me the courage and the characteristics needed to be selected for this honor.

To the members of the administration, I would like to express my appreciation for the times I was given encouragement I needed. It was your words of wisdom and inspiration that motivated me to strive for higher aims. Your words of wisdom and inspiration will always be a part of my life.

To the members of the student body and the Student Government Association, I wish to give thanks for your votes, your loyalty, and your trust that allowed me the chance to represent you.

I would also like to thank the members of my beloved family for their love and support throughout the years. Your words of wisdom have encouraged me to further my education. No better words could express my appreciation to you more than these: "I LOVE YOU ALL".

It is at this point that I want to pause to thank you all collectively for your support, directly, and indirectly. I will represent the college to the best of my abilities through scholarship, leadership and service to the Morris College family.

It is my prayer that God will bless you and keep you in His care.

TOMORROW'S DREAM

Classes

TROY GLOVER, a dreamer, an achiever, a leader shares his dreams for tomorrow, based on actions of today.

My vision of tomorrow is engulfed in the ambitions I have for today. God has blessed me with the capacity to think, learn and dream, thus enabling me to fulfil my goals of living and creating a better life for myself and my fellowman.

My dreams began when I was a grade school student at Wesley Elementary School, Rembert, South Carolina. I envisioned graduating from high school and attending College. Upon graduating from Bishopville High School, I entered Morris College. I pursued a major in mathematics with dreams of becoming a well known mathematician or utilizing my math background to embark on a successful career. As a freshman I became active in campus and academic affairs. I realized that possessing a dream is great, but acting on that dream is essential for success. I envisioned being an involved student and becoming a part of the Morris College family. As a freshman, I was assistant treasurer of the Gospel Choir, acting treasurer of the pre-alumni club, a member of the Baptist Student Union and the NAACP.

During my sophomore year I was elected by my peers as vice-president of the Baptist Student Union, treasurer of the Pre-Alumni Club, treasurer of Brawley-Starks Senate, and chaplain of the Student Government Association. In the same year, I also became a member of the Math Club.

During my junior year I was elected vice president of the Student Government Association, vice-president of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., business manager of the Junior Class and Baptist Student Union, treasurer of the Pre-Alumni Club, and a peer counselor.

During my senior year I was elected by my peers to be president of the Student Government Association, treasurer of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., treasurer of the Pre-Alumni Club, and a peer counselor, and I became a member of the Baptist Student Union and the Gospel Choir.

I am active in supportive roles at Union Baptist Church in Rembert, South Carolina.

Along with extracurricular activities I regularly attended classes and pursued the intellectual part of my dream. As a result of my grades, I was listed on the Dean's List and became an O. R. Reuben Scholar. I was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. I received the William Bowman Award in 1984; the outstanding Student Leader Award in 1984; the Beatrice Sanders Award in 1985; and the O. R. Reuben Scholar Award in 1985. During the summer of 1985 I was selected to attend the Science and Engineering Program at Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia.

My dreams of entering and successfully completing college are nearing completion; however, I continue to grow. As one dream reaches fruition, another begins. I have completed the application to attend Ohio State University in the Fall of 1986 to earn a Master's Degree in Landscape Architecture. I plan to join an Architecture firm with hopes of someday owning my own firm.

Dreams are what men are made of. In his inaugural address, John Kennedy stated, "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country." I leave you with a continuing thought: don't ask about the things man can do for you, but what you can do for mankind; don't be dreamers of dreams but achievers of dreams. With hard work, specific goals, determination and hope I envision that one day I will create a monument that will enable others to dream through me.

TROY'S THOUGHTS ON HERITAGE AS IT RELATES TO TOMORROWS DREAM

Heritage is what we have as a gift from the dreamers of past generations. Heritage is generally defined as being something transmitted by or acquired from a predecessor; a legacy. Upon graduation many of you will become an intricate part of this college's heritage.

Our heritage began in 1908, when the Educational and Missionary Convention of South Carolina established Morris College for the Christian and intellectual training of Negro Youth.

Our heritage was extended in 1911, a year in which the certification of incorporation was granted.

Our heritage reached another milestone in 1915 when the Bachelor of Arts degree was conferred on the first two graduates of this newly established institution of higher education.

Our heritage reached its most important peak in 1979 when Morris College received full accreditation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Fellow students, we are a special breed. Today, we have opportunities in education that our forefathers, and in some instances our mothers and fathers, were unable to experience. Therefore, we must remember that education is our main weapon against inequality of opportunity and oppression. The capacity to think can never be seized or stolen.

Mr. Jerome Deas

REACHING FOR A DREAM

Hello, my name is Jerome Deas. I am from Charleston, South Carolina and I am a mathematics major. I came to Morris College with a dream in my mind and determination in my heart. The dream that was nestled in my mind was that of achieving academic excellence and being able to compete in a world of revolving information. That dream has become the theme of this year's annual "Tomorrow's Dream," for when I arrived I dreamed of tomorrow.

During my enrollment at Morris College I've had the privilege of being involved in academic, extra-curricular, and athletic organizations. I am a member of the Mathematics Club, and the Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society. The men of Brawley Starks residence hall saw leadership qualities in my character and selected me president of Brawley Starks Hall in 1983-84; the following year I was elected parliamentarian of the senate of the same residence hall. I am also a member of the Men's basketball team where I have received recognition for my athletic abilities.

During the Fall Semester of 1985 I worked as a Co-operative Education Student with the Federal Aviation Administration in Charleston, South Carolina. After graduation, I plan to utilize my training to become an Air Traffic Controller. With a dream in mind I worked hard and long, sometimes till the early hours of the morning to become the best that I could be. To be engaged in two time-consuming disciplines such as basketball and academics I had to put my priorities into perspective as one must do in order to be successful.

I encourage all students at Morris College and every other learning institution to think big thoughts, dream big dreams and give one hundred percent everyday towards those thoughts and dreams.

My challenge to you is not to try to equate my successes at Morris College but to surpass them in both academics and athletics because tomorrow's dream will be fulfilled by today's thinkers and doers.

Jerome

James Blassingame, (Co-Advisor); Eddie Moore, Patrick Robinson, Henry O'Bryant, and George Parson, (Dean of Pledges).

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. the first intercollegiate Greek-Letter Fraternity established for black college students, was organized at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, in 1906. The first unit of this national fraternity, organized by men of Afro-American descent, was called "Alpha Chapter." Alpha Phi Alpha was born out of the desire for maintaining close association and unified support for members of this small minority group, inasmuch as they were denied, for the most part, the mutual helpfulness which the majority of students attending their university enjoyed. The early fraternity pioneers succeeded in laying a firm foundation and remained steadfast in their goals pointing toward development of the Fraternity's membership—that is the espousing of the principles of good character, sound scholarship, fellowship, and the uplifting of humanity especially the struggling black minority in the United States.

The Xi Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. was chartered at Morris College on April 27, 1979. The present campus membership of Xi Epsilon consists of eleven undergraduate brothers and two graduate advisors.

In its seven year history Xi Epsilon has participated vigorously in many national fraternal charitable service projects, among them being the "Go To High School—Go To College" program initiated by the fraternity in 1929 and "Operation Big Vote." Within the past year the Xi Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha has continued to thrive and be on the cutting edge of campus and community involvement. Locally the chapter has assisted with the March of Dimes telethon, sponsored a blood drive, aided with freshman orientation and presented their annual Miss Black and Gold Pageant and Ball.

At the inception of Delta Sigma Theta in 1913 at Howard University, the founders envisioned an organization of college women pledged to serious endeavor and community service.

These youthful students demonstrated a vital concern for social welfare, academic excellence, and cultural enrichment, deemphasizing the social side of sorority life. The ideas of scholarship and service have withstood the test of time, and today Delta Sigma Theta is a public service sorority, dedicated to a program of sharing membership skills and organizational services in the public interest. In 1930, Delta Sigma Theta was incorporated as a national organization.

Early in this century, black students were actively dissuaded from attending college. Formidable obstacles were erected to prevent the few who enrolled from assimilating into co-curricular campus life. This social ostracism characterized Indiana University. On January 5, 1911, Mr. W. Diggs, joined by eight black students, formed Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity which remains the only Greek letter organization with its Alpha Chapter on the University campus. The Founders sought a formula that would immediately raise the sights of black collegians and stimulate them to accomplishments higher than they might have imagined. Fashioning achievement as its purpose, Kappa Alpha Psi began uniting college men of culture, patriotism and honor in a bond of fraternity. Chapters spread in succession to Wilberforce University, the University of Illinois, and the University of Iowa campuses.

Lambda Epsilon Chapter was chartered in 1981. Since it was chartered over 30 young men have been pledged through the chapter. As a tradition with the fraternity, the brothers sponsored many outreach programs for the community. The brothers visited the local nursing homes periodically to read to the residents. They also tutored many high school students in mathematics and English. They treated the students at the Wateree Headstart to a Halloween Party, Valentine Party and an Easter Egg hunt. The highlights of the activities this year were the Annual Founders Day Program which featured the Providence Polemarc, Mr. James B. Hardy as the featured speaker and the Miss Kappa Alpha Psi Pageant and Ball.

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc., was founded November

17, 1911, at Howard University, in Washington, D.C., by four very intelligent, energetic, ambitious men: Ernest E. Just, Edgar A. Love, Frank Coleman, and Oscar J. Cooper.

On April 6, 1979, sixteen adventurous, dynamic, and intellectual young men were inducted into the Fraternity at Morris College establishing Epsilon Lambda Chapter.

Sigma added three members to the chapter. In January, we played an active role in our state conference and in February held our Sweetheart Pageant and Ball. During the month of March, we were involved in a project that installed smoke detectors in community homes that did not have them. This community project earned us a regional award for outstanding service to the community.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Incorporated, was organized at Howard University on January 16, 1920. The organization was born out of a desire of the members of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Incorporated, to have a sister organization in which to share their ideals and philosophy, thus making these two organizations official brother-sister organizations.

Since its inception at Morris College in 1977, Pi Theta Chapter has continued to foster the ideals and principles on which the sorority was founded—service, scholarship, sisterly love and finer womanhood.

Richardson, Morris College was granted accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in December, 1978. As a result Morris College became eligible to host a chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society. On March 18, 1980, the Mu Lambda Chapter was officially established.

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION PROGRAM

Cooperative Education is an educational concept which incorporates academic work with on-the-job training to provide a more meaningful and valuable total experience for the college student.

Entrance into the co-op work experience must be initiated during the sophomore year with an acceptable academic standing of at least a 2.0 grade point average. The student is expected to agree to co-op for at least two semesters of co-op work and 3 credit hours for summer co-op work. The salaries and company benefits received are added incentives for a student desiring to participate in the co-op program.

This program provides students with the opportunity to begin a career and a chance to test social and academic skills, personal beliefs and values. This experience makes the transition from school to work easier. Students who want to be "a step ahead" when they graduate should explore the advantages of participating in the co-op program.

The Sunday School is an organization that enables students to get acquainted with Biblical facts through study. Student knowledge must grow from a common center; otherwise it is frequently uninteresting, causes dissatisfaction, and is substantially worthless.

The Sunday School program provides the strength we need to deal with everyday problems. Sunday is the day we set aside for God, to go to the House of God and study God's words to help us to glorify his name.

The Sunday School is officially taught by Christian men, women, and students who freely give their time and talents in order that the soul may be saved and the soul may be strengthened. The Sunday School builds character, instructs the mind, warms the heart, fills ambition, encourages the faith heart, shields the tempted, and paints the way of life for all. The Sunday School needs the sympathetic support, the prayerful interest, the loyal cooperation of every Christian student and every Baptist Student Union Member. The Sunday School stretches out a friendly hand to everyone and prays that they will come and listen to the holy word.

COMPLIMENTS OF
Dr. Luns C. Richardson
President, Morris College

GOOD TIMBER

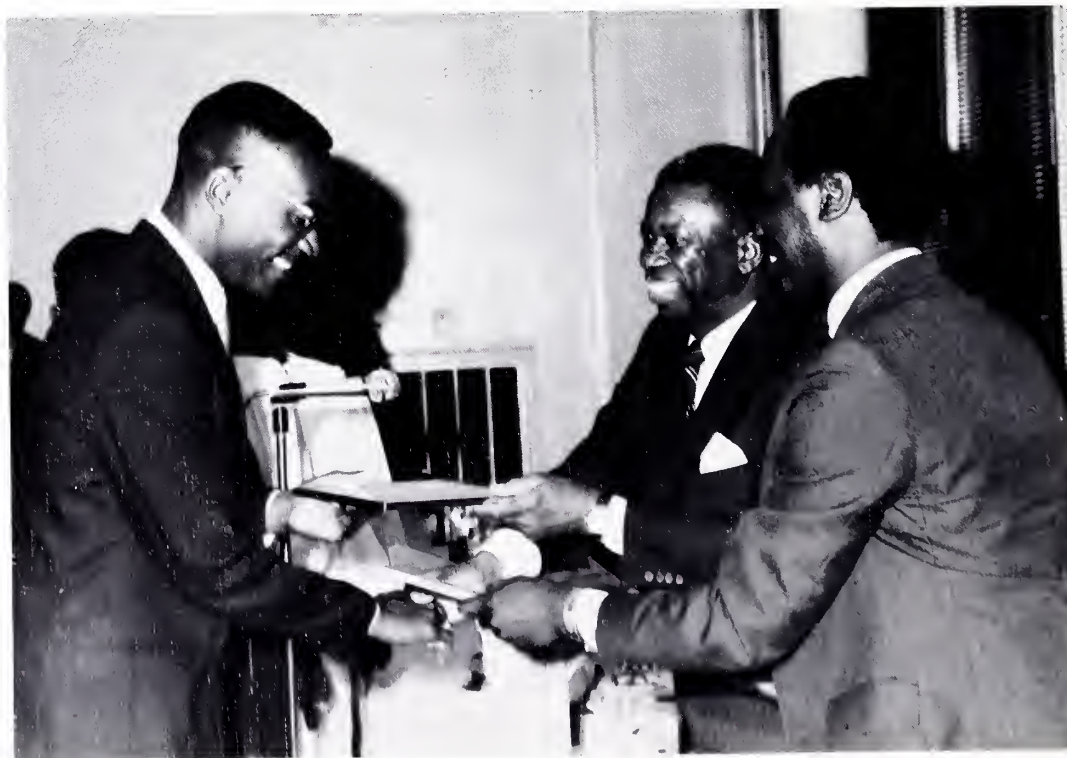

The tree that never had to fight
For sun and rain and air and light,
That stood out in the open plain
And always got its share of rain
Never became a forest king,
But lived and died a scrubby thing.

A man that never had to toil
By hand or mind with life's crude oil,
Who never had to earn his share

Of sun and sky and light and air
Never became a man to dare,
But lived and died as he began.

Good timber doesn't grow at ease.
The strongest wind, the tougher trees;
The further sky, the greater length;
The rougher storm, the greater strength;
By wind and rain, by sun and snows
In tree or man good timber grows.

BE ALL YOU CAN BE

IN THE ARMY

Vanessa Burrison begins her duties as an officer of the newly formed Army ROTC unit at Morris College.

Angelo McBride is being sworn in by an Army ROTC Officer.

Historical Sketch

Under the leadership of our capable President, Dr. Luns C. Richardson, Morris College initiated the search for an ARMY ROTC extension unit. The Academic Dean, Dr. Mary A. Vereen was instructed to pursue the matter with Ms. Ora Spann and Staff acting as campus liaisons. With the aid of Ms. Kathy Gordon, and Mrs. Gloria White, a unit was located, and secured.

Enthusiasm was great among the student body and interest zoomed. Lieutenant Colonel Johnny S. Robinson of the USC's ARMY ROTC unit eagerly agreed to initiate the project with Major Autrey acting as the liaison. During the summer of 1985 the first eleven cadets, Angelo McBride, Teresa Thompson, Vanessa Ragin, Jeffery Jackson, Vada Burns, Taylor Clinton, Horace Butler, Doris Rosenborough, Allison George, Anthony Hall, and Waymon Whitfield attended camp in Fort Knox, Kentucky.

On August 20, 1985, Angelo McBride, Teresa Thompson, Waymon Whitfield, Vanessa Ragin, Jeffrey Jackson and Taylor Clinton were contracted, thus initiating the Army ROTC program into the curriculum at Morris College.

The Army ROTC Program at Morris College continued with an impressive opening day ceremony on September 12, 1985. In front of the assembled Morris College Family, distinguished guests from the community and the army, Dr. Luns C. Richardson passed the Guidon or company flag to Cadet Captain Angelo McBride. Major General Cromartie, Commander, U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command, was the guest speaker. In his remarks, Major General Cromartie challenged the assembled 89 cadets to excel and stressed that they should understand the difference between winners and losers. The Fort Jackson Army Band provided martial music for the day, and Charlie Company, the cadet company's official designation, marched proudly off the field, and initiated a new chapter in the History of Morris College.

Color Guards—Darryl Scott, Vincent Scott, Anthony Fulmore, Paul Linyard, Kevin Moses and Darrell Kelly, proudly lead the way as the Opening Day Ceremony begins.

Getting into the heart of the Army ROTC program of instruction, the new Cadets attacked their classes with enthusiasm and high motivation. Helping the program get started was Sergeant Major Alf Mills, who instructed the Freshman class. He took the Cadets to Fort Jackson in October for a ROTC picnic. There, by twin lakes, a beautiful recreation area, the Cadets and their friends played volleyball, softball, and barbequed an Army's worth of hotdogs and hamburgers.

Major George Freeman instructed the Sophomore Cadets, and as the Supply Officer, quickly issued all the uniforms and necessary gear for the program to get off to a firm footing. This training paid off when the Cadets went to Fort Jackson again in November of 1985, but this time, it was no picnic. The training day started early—of course with breakfast—and then on to the rifle range to familiarize themselves with the M-16 Army rifle. The next day, the Cadets had to challenge victory tower, a 50-foot edifice that required them to climb ropes, and ladders, and finally, rappel (slide down a rope) for the entire 50 feet.

Captain John DeFede instructed the Junior Cadets, to prepare them for the Advanced Camp to be held in the Summer of 1986. As the officer in charge, he administered the program, and saw to it that the necessary discipline, training, and appearance of the cadets was up to standard. This paid off when the Cadets marched in the Thanksgiving Day Parade.

In the Spring, classes and drills continued, with the pace and tempo of the training increasing. It was now becoming commonplace to see Cadets in their battle dress and green uniforms on campus, the training was sometimes tiresome, but the precision needed to build the Army team at Morris College's Charlie Company was sounded, and the trip to Fort Jackson for three days of solid training was conducted. The Cadets lived in the field, and practiced their skills at land navigation, map reading, and small unit tactical training. Through it all, the cadets were highly motivated and Morris College joined the Army family with pride.

The year for Charlie Company ended on a high note when a Presidential Review was conducted here at Morris on April 24, 1986. Awards for physical fitness, academic excellence, and leadership on campus were handed out by the Academic Dean and Captain DeFede to the deserving cadets. It was a proud moment attended by many here at Morris. To show that all work and no play is not the case for Army ROTC, the formal Military Ball held in the gymnasium was an outstanding success. Cadets in their dress uniforms, escorting their ladies dressed in gowns, added a special touch to a special year. Colonel John Bowden, the professor of Military Science at South Carolina State College was the guest speaker at that affair, and there is a promising future for the Army ROTC program and the Cadets who take the challenge to become Commissioned Officers in the Armed Forces.
